REED'S DECISIONS REPEATED.

After Filibustering for Hours the Smith-Jackson Contest Election Case is Called Up but no Action is Taken—Other Washington Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The house was far more orderly yesterday. The Democrats introduced filibustering tactics, but they proceeded in an orderly way. The same interested crowd thronged the galleries and the corridors of the capitol.

SPEAKER REED.

Significant smiles flitted across the faces of several members when Chaplain Milburn opened the proceedings of the house at noon, in a prayer, in which he invoked wisdom to guide the members in their deliberations. The galleries, as on the previous two days, were crowded. Those who expected a repetition of the scenes of the previous day during the reading of the journal, were disappointed, for nothing happened more exciting than two demands from Mr. Bland, to have read the names of those who voted on "the various motions of the day before, and also the names of those present and not voting."

The clerk in reading the names was obliged, for convenience, to obtain them from The Congressional Record, and Mr. Outhwaite, of Ohio, objected to this, on the ground that as the journal was what the house would be asked to pass upon, it should not be made up from The Record. The speaker hoped that Mr. Outhwaite would not object, but the latter persisted, and Mr. Reed scored a laugh by saying: "The gentleman can have his own way." The clerk then read the names from the official yeas and nays list.

As soon as the clerk finished the reading, Mr. McKinley was on his feet with a motion to approve the journal. He demanded the previous question. Mr. Springer was ready with a motion to adjourn, and proceeded to speak upon it. The speaker interrupted him with the remark that the gentleman, meaning Mr. Springer, knew that a motion to adjourn was not debatable.

"But there are no rules," was the retort. "There are rules," was the calm reply of Speaker Reed.

"What are they?" demanded Mr. Springer. In answer the speaker stated that according to rules of parliamentary law a motion to adjourn was not debatable. He then put the motion to adjourn. Division was called for, and Mr. McKinley demanded the yeas and nays.

The motion to adjourn was defeated, and the question then became Mr. McKinley's demand for the previous question on his motion for the approval of the journal. The yeas and nays were again ordered, and the vote resulted in a victory for the Republicans: Yeas 160, nays none. The Democrats refused to vote. The speaker, in order to make a quorum, began to read the names of the Democrats present, but not voting. Mr. Bland rose to a point of order, but finding that the speaker paid no attention to him, began speaking at the top of his voice. He said that the speaker should have the vote announced before he began to call the names of the non-voters.

The speaker still refused to recognize Mr. Bland, and the latter repented what he said, and the day before about "tyranny" and tyrants. A motion for adjournment sounded through the din that ensued. Mr. Bynum, of Indiana, was the mover. A dozen Democrats shouted that a motion to adjourn had been put, but the speaker managed to state the motion of Mr. McKinley for the approval of the journal. This seemed to make Mr. Bland furious. He shook both fists at the speaker, calling out that his action was a curse on the house. Loud applause from the Democrats followed the remark. Some people in the galleries hissed.

Quiet was restored when the clerk began to call the roll, the Republicans having ordered the yeas and nays.

When the speaker announced that the yeas were 160, and proceeded to count in the Democrats who were present, Mr. Bynum, of Indiana, arose in his seat and waited until Mr. Reed had finished. Amid jeers from the Democrats the speaker announced the journal approved, and then recognized Mr. Bynum, who had been calling patiently for recognition. Coming to the front of the house, Mr. Bynum delivered what was probably the most bitter personal tirade ever made on the floor of the house.

Mr. Bynum had been recognized on a question of personal privilege, but he branched off into an arraignment of the Republican party. He said that the speaker had refused to recognize his motion to adjourn in defiance of parliamentary procedure, in defiance of right and justice. The speaker's rulings, he characterized as "arbitrary, outrageous, damnable, and in keeping with the acts of the Republican party."

The speaker called Mr. Bynum to order, but he seemed to be emboldened by the interruption, and refused to desist. He told the speaker that he had mutilated the records of the house to serve his purpose, to carry out the scheme of a tyrant, and that he was backed by a mob, (meaning the Republican members). Then following a scathing arraignment of the Republican party, Mr. Bynum accused it of stealing Montana by fraud in the recent election, and of harboring a political scoundrel in Indiana.

The scene in the house during the delivery of Mr. Bynum's philippic was even more disorderly than any of those enacted the day before. Cheers and hisses were intermingled as Mr. Bynum proceeded; jeers came simultaneously with hand clapping; groans were followed by shouts of applause. Cries of "sit down," "good by," and "hire a hall," came from the Republicans; shouts of "go it Bynum," "you're right," "speak to the end" from the Democrats. Members rose in their seats and shouted for recognition from the speaker. The scene was one of general confusion, and the galleries helped it.

Mr. Bynum ended his remarks by appealing from the decision of the chair in refusing to allow his motion to adjourn.

The speaker made a brief reply. He said the proceedings of the house, as far as the chair was concerned, had been orderly. [Here the Democrats hissed and moaned.] The speaker refused to entertain the appeal.

Mr. Springer then jumped to his feet and moved to adjourn. The speaker refused to entertain the motion. Mr. Springer entered an appeal, and Mr. McKinley moved to lay the appeal on the table. The yeas and nays were ordered on Mr. McKinley's motion, and, amid great confusion, the clerk began to call the roll. Mr. Springer continued to speak, and the Democrats encouraged him by applause.

The speaker announced the result of the roll call as 160 yeas and no nays. He counted in a sufficient number of Democrats to make up a quorum. Another scene ensued, and during it the speaker recognized Mr. Dalzell, who managed to call up the Smith-Jackson contested election case.

Mr. Crisp endeavored to raise the question of consideration and tried to appeal from the decision of the chair, but the speaker refused to entertain the appeal. Mr. Crisp denied the right of the chair to class his motion as a dilatory motion, and protested against the speaker's action, which, he said, was in disregard of all parliamentary rule.

Mr. Dalzell then took the floor and began to present the views of the majority of the election committee on the contested election case of Smith against Jackson. The Democrats showed a disposition on the start to interrupt Mr. Dalzell, but Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, rose, and addressing his Democratic colleagues, said that the election case had been taken up against their protest, but it was up, and they should give it a quiet hearing so they might pass upon it intelligently. This advice was acted upon, and Mr. Dalzell continued his argument. When he finished, the house at 4:30 p. m. adjourned.

Almost Ready for the Census.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The work of appointing 175 census supervisors is nearly completed by Superintendent Porter. He has now prepared instructions which are designed to assist them in managing the army of 40,000 enumerators, who will be engaged in collecting the statistics under their direction. He advises them that in the selection of enumerators, political affiliations are not to be regarded, but men are to be selected for their fitness alone. Preference is, however, to be given to honorably discharged soldiers and sailors residing in their respective districts.

He directs that the division into enumeration districts should be made by rural divisions, and that the boundary lines be clear and unmistakable. In rich agricultural regions, Superintendent Porter states, 2,000 or 2,500 inhabitants may safely be included in an enumeration district. As settlements become more sparse, a smaller number should be included. The same limit in the number of inhabitants in an enumeration district should be observed in cities having over 10,000 inhabitants.

In the opinion of Mr. Porter, the more quickly the census is taken, the better it will be taken, and so where two equally good enumerators are to be appointed who will complete the canvass in two weeks, he advises that it is better to divide the work, than to have one enumerator at work for a month. In the appointment of enumerators it will be found advisable, Mr. Porter states, to select men who have had some previous experience of official duty. Township assessors and other local officers, postmasters at small offices, country physicians and school teachers are regarded by Mr. Porter as likely to prove competent. Mr. Porter adds that he is aware of no law making women ineligible for appointment as enumerators.

The World's Fair Question.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Senator Hiscock returned to the capitol yesterday. He said that the committee on the quadro-centennial would be called together early next week. No consultation had been held among the members and he did not know in what form the world's fair question would be reported to the senate.

Public Debt Reduction.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The treasury department yesterday purchased $14,000 four-and-a-half per cent. bonds at 104 5-8.

English Politics

Likely to Be Disturbed in the Near Future.

AN OPEN RUPTURE IN ULSTER.

Trouble Brewing Among the Tory and Unionist Orangemen—Great Fears in London for Overdue Steamers—Evidence of Serious Ocean Wrecks—Other Cable News.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—A row is now brewing among the Tory and Unionist Orangemen of Ulster, which threatens to assume serious proportions and endanger the continued solidity of the ministerial representation for Ulster in the house of commons. The trouble is not of recent origin, but lately many things have combined to hasten the inevitable culmination of the ill-feeling in an open rupture.

Mr. Thomas W. Russell, the Liberal Unionist member for South Tyrone, has repeatedly given evidence of his independence of party dictation where the policy of the government or the trend of party interest ran counter to his convictions, and the attempts of his colleagues to call him to account and whip him into line have uniformly been unsuccessful. In a recent speech Mr. Russell, irritated at the servility of the Ulster men in blindly following their political masters to the prejudice of their own interests, roundly denounced them as blockheads, and characterized the Ulster commoners as a party of dead-heads on the Conservative train.

These strictures aroused the ire of Sir Charles E. Lewis, conservative member for North Antrim, who has retorted in terms anything but complimentary to the fearless member of Tyrone. As Sir Charles wears the collar of Maj. Sanderson, the leader of the Orange party in parliament, his arrangement of Russell may be regarded as an authorized party measure. Russell has many friends, and the quarrel may end in a split, of which the Nationalists will not be slow to take advantage.

Evidence of Disasters.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Fears for the safety of overdue steamers and sailing vessels are on the increase, by the reports of the great quantities of wreckage sighted by incoming ships. For a time all the wreckage reported was assumed to be that of the Erin, but the volume and character of the masses of floating debris met with, and the variety of their longitudinal and latitudinal positions when seen, warrants the conviction that the Erin is by no means the only vessel that went to the bottom during the recent storms.

A Call from Farnell.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Mr. Farnell has issued a written call to his followers urging that nothing be permitted to prevent their attendance at the opening of parliament. Constant attention to duties in parliament, he says, will be necessary during the coming session, as opportunities will certainly arise for every member to render effective service to Ireland.

William O'Brien Recovering.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Mr. William O'Brien has almost entirely recovered from the attack of prostration which overcame him at Leeds, but he is still weak. He will rest in London a few days before resuming his tour to England. Meanwhile his dates will be re-arranged to cover the towns his indisposition now compels him to pass over.

Big Labor Meeting.

VIENNA, Feb. 1.—Three thousand workmen met at Brunn yesterday and resolved to observe June 1 as a general holiday. The meeting was really a demonstration in favor of an eight-hour day, and subsequent meetings are to be held to pursue the agitation.

A Defaulter Attempts Suicide.

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—Heir Arendt, the town clerk of Berlin, attempted to commit suicide yesterday by poisoning himself. Almost simultaneously with the attempt the discovery was made that Arendt is a defaulter, his pecuniations aggregating a large sum.

Christians Fleeing for Safety.

ATHENS, Feb. 1.—Telegrams from Crete tell of increased murders of both Christians and Turks, and indicate a much worse state of affairs than has hitherto existed. The Christians are fleeing to the mountains.

Five Men Killed.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—At Kalkberg, a suburb of Dietz, Prussia, yesterday, the fly-wheel of a thrashing machine burst while in rapid motion, killing five men.

Sculling Race Arranged.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The Scullers Mutton and Kemp, of Australia, are matched to row a race on the Paramatta course in April for £200 a side.

Death of an Archbishop.

DUBLIN, Feb. 1.—The Most Rev. John MacEvilly, archbishop of Tuam, died yesterday.

DR. EDWARD M'GLYNN.

He is Taken Seriously Sick at Chicago While on a Lecture Tour.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Dr. Edward McGlynn, the single tax advocate, who was to have lectured last night at the Madison street theater, was taken seriously ill upon his arrival yesterday from Des Moines, and, by the advice of a physician, left for New York at 5:30 p. m. Upon his arrival at the Windsor hotel Dr. McGlynn sent for a physician, and Dr. Milton Jay was called in. Dr. Jay found his patient in a high state of fever and suffering from a severe attack of bronchial troubles.

Dr. McGlynn was willing to keep his appointment if the physician would afford him some temporary relief, but Dr. Jay positively refused to do anything of the kind, and warned his patient of the dangerous character of his ailment, which, at the slightest aggravation, might turn into pneumonia. A number of prominent members of the Single Tax club procured and fitted up a section in a through sleeper of the Lake Shore road for the sufferer's comfort, and after a sojourn of only three hours the lecturer left for New York.

SENSATIONAL ELOPEMENT.

A Real Estate Man Skips With Another Man's Wife and $5,740 Stolen Money.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 1.—John H. Loud, real estate agent and speculator, is a fugitive from justice. He fled the city last Tuesday night, taking with him $5,740 belonging to one of his clients. Not satisfied with the theft of the money, he induced the wife of a well known Elm street saloon keeper to accompany him in his flight.

The supposition is that the guilty couple have started for Australia, and yesterday dispatches were sent to San Francisco and intermediate points to intercept the fugitives.

The companion of Loud's flight was May, the beautiful wife of Frederick Heinsius, the well known liquor dealer at 203 Elm street. The woman is a pronounced blonde, of petite figure, and but 29 years of age. She is possessed of regular features, hazel eyes and a lovely complexion. Her face and figure were such as would attract attention at any time or place.

The victim of Loud's theft is Charles Frank, living at John and Melancthon streets. Some time ago Frank concluded to sell his property and in some manner he fell into the clutches of John H. Loud. The latter soon found a purchaser in one William Levy, who agreed to give for the property the sum of $5,740 in cash. The price being agreed on, the next thing to do was for Levy to raise the money.

He applied to the Superior Building and Loan company, and the matter was in turn referred to their attorneys, Hill and Stryker. The loan was successfully negotiated and Mr. Stryker, who had charge of the matter, was authorized to pass over the money on presentation of the deed.

On Tuesday last Loud presented himself at the office of Hill & Stryker with the deed to the property, duly signed and acknowledged. After examining the paper Mr. Stryker handed Loud a check for $5,740. The check was made payable to John H. Loud, agent for Charles Frank. The deed, with the accompanying mortgage, was at once sent to the court house, and is now a matter of record.

It is useless to add that Loud's break is a surprise. He has always been crooked, and the surprise lies in the fact that such an irresponsible party as he was known to be should get legitimate employment. It is known that he has left his wife in straitened circumstances. The day following his flight a lot of groceries were sent to Hartwell for his family. His home in that suburb is heavily mortgaged, and the property will now probably have to be sold.

Last night dispatches giving a full description of the guilty pair were sent to San Francisco, New York, Detroit, Toronto, Canada, and New Orleans, and the police authorities hope to intercept them. If they have started to Australia by way of San Francisco their capture is almost assured.

SITUATION IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

Only Three Counties Can Not Provide for Their People.

PIERRE, S. Dux., Feb. 1.—At a convention of the business men and citizens of the state, held at Watertown last fall, a committee was appointed for the purpose of ascertaining the exact financial condition of the people, in order to refute false and slanderous reports.

Dan C. Needham, the chairman, reported yesterday, having received 893 replies to letters of inquiry. From these it is gathered that the average yield of wheat per acre was eleven bushels, corn twenty-six, flax seven and a half, and potatoes seventy. Miner, Brown and Faulk counties show the lowest yields, in the order named. Mr. Needham says that Miner and Faulk report severe drouth, with many needy people. Six other counties report drouth in certain localities, where there are a few needy people.

All the counties but three—Miner, Faulk and Edmunds—report the county abundantly able to take care of its own people. One-half of one per cent. of the total population will need assistance, and 5 per cent. of the farmers will be compelled to buy seed grain on time. Sixty per cent. of the farmers have part or all of their real estate mortgaged, and 5 per cent. have part or all of their chattels mortgaged.

Three per cent. of the correspondents report destitution and want caused by the drouth, 56 report the cause poor management, buying too liberally of machinery and other goods, and 198 report high taxes, high rate of interest, usury, elevator combinations and high freight rates. The report concludes by saying that it is evident from the foregoing that to other causes than drouth must be attributed the greater portion of the appeals for aid.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1890.

TREASURER SHARP's salary would not pay the cost of his bond, if procured from a security-giving society.—Louisville Times.

Well, what are you kicking about? He was very anxious to be given the opportunity to give the bond, and he knew what the salary was all along. And he is not the only individual in the State who can give a bond like that.

The action of the Republicans Thursday has virtually placed all Congressional legislation in the hands of one man, the despotic Speaker of the House. Congressman Breckinridge denounced Speaker Reed's ruling as "unparliamentary, revolutionary and corrupt." The American people are not blinded to all justice, and the day will come when the Republicans will bitterly regret the despotic action of their Congressmen this week.

DURING the year 1889 the total value of importations coming through the Louisville custom house was $250,512, on which there was collected a duty of $112,143.71.—Maysville Republican.

It would be very interesting to follow these importations up and see who paid the duty. The Republican says "the tariff isn't a tax," and yet we'll wager a few of our loose coppers that the consumers eventually had to pay the duty of over $100,000 mentioned above.

The lessees of the penitentiary have six hundred convicts at work outside the walls. It costs them only a little over 9 cents a day to feed each of the unfortunates, and the poor fellows are worked too death almost. The lessees are contractors in the branch "pen" at Eddyville. No wonder the completion of the Eddyville building is delayed year after year. They are making too much off the convicts to have them withdrawn from outside work and placed within the walls. The Legislators are going down to Eddyville next week to take a look at the branch "pen," and it is to be hoped they will make their investigation a thorough one.

THE "loyal" citizens of Aberdeen, Miss., following the death of Jell Davis, hung Secretary of War Proctor in effigy. A citizen of Indiana was in Aberdeen and he cut the effigy down. Whereupon the "loyal" citizens aforesaid mobbed him and beat him nearly to death. And still the Southerners insist that the war is over and that Republicans ought to stop waving the bloody shirt.—Maysville Republican.

A month or so ago a crowd of disappointed Republican office-seekers out in Indiana burned President Harrison in effigy, but Brother Davis has never said a word about the disgraceful affair, so far as we know. Such outrageous doings by Republicans in the North amount to nothing in the eyes of Republican editors and politicians, but every little affair in the South is seized upon and magnified a thousand fold. Away with such inconsistency!

Representative Frazee and Senator Poyntz.

The Louisville Post's Frankfort correspondent says: "Hon. John M. Frazee, of Mason, is one of the finest specimens of Kentucky manhood, expressed in physical development, there is in the Legislature, and it boasts of a number. He is six feet two or three inches tall and built in proportion. A native of Mason County, he is about 47 years of age. He started in life to be a doctor, but commercial pursuits were more to his taste, and he quit guessing at people's ailments and prescribing for them. The change proved a good one for he is now worth about $200,000. In his county the Democratic party has two divisions—the "Mossbacks" and the "Kids." Under this classification Mr. Frazee is a "Mossback." The "Kids" of Mason must be very lively indeed when a progressive man like Dr. Frazee is too slow for their company."

Senator Payntz, of Mason, is a Representative of the "Kids" who, it seems, stole a march on the "mossbacks" at the last election. That Senatorial district embraces Mason and Lewis counties. By the system of rotation in operation the Senatorial prize was to have fallen this time to a Lewis County Democrat. That county is Republican. The "Kids" of Mason fixed up a scheme whereby their leader, C. B. Poyntz, although a Mason County man, would be the nominee for Senator. The convention was held in Mason County and after the "Mossbacks" had secured the nomination of their Representative, agreed to support the man for Senator whom Lewis County would instruct for. They thought, of course, it would be a Lewis County man and consequently were not a little chagrined when the Democracy of Lewis declared for one of the "Kids" of Mason. The latter had made a still hunt.

"Mr. Frazee is a married man. His wife and daughter are spending the winter with him in Frankfort."

The allowances made by the Court of Claims of Bracken County at the late session amounted to nearly $4,000.

THE STATE SOLONS.

Paragraphs of Interest Gleaned From the Proceedings of the Legislature.

The bill changing the time for examining candidates for County Superintendent passed.

The House bill requiring the payment of all fines and forfeitures to the Trustees of the Jury Fund was favorably reported, but was recommitted.

The bill originating in the House requiring the grand juries to inspect semi-annually the hets of idiots and lunatics supported by the State was defeated.

Representative Frazee has introduced a bill to amend an act, entitled "An act to incorporate the Valley Turnpike Road Company," approved February 20, 1884.

Speaker Myers announced the following committee under the resolution for reapportionment of the State: E. D. Hardin, W. M. Smith, W. T. Cox, J. W. Croan, Arthur Wallace, W. S. Bailey, Geo. B. Kinkead, John H. Welsh, Walter Sharpe, R. L. May, John W. Rowlett. Lieutenant Governor Bryan appointed the following State members on the same committee: Senators Smith, McCain, Roberts, English and Terry.

The Senate has passed the following: A bill making it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine and imprisonment, to go to a place of worship while drunk or to take to such a place any intoxicating liquors for the purpose of using as a beverage; the bill incorporating the Y. M. C. A. of the State; Mr. Wortham's bill, making it an offense, punishable by fine from $50 to $200, or by imprisonment from one to six months, to go to any place where persons are assembled for worship, instruction or amusement, or to any circus or public exhibition, or to the polls on election day, carrying any concealed weapon, other than an ordinary pocket knife.

The subject of the cost of construction and further necessities of the branch penitentiary was opened up Thursday morning in the House by a resolution offered by Mr. Gay, of Clark County.

The resolution was that the House adjourn for three days to enable the members to visit the branch penitentiary and inspect it, in order that they might understand what had been done and remained to be done when the House came to vote on any bill for a further appropriation. "The resolution uncorked the oratory," says the Louisville Times, "and a great many speeches were made—some by gentlemen who thought the members ought to find out what an elephant the branch prison is, and others by gentlemen who thought the members ought to gaze upon the grand proportions of the half million dollar job and break their necks in haste to vote another appropriation to finish it. Incidentally Mr. Weil and others raked the lessees and contractors, stating that the prison had already cost $484,000, and that it was still only about half finished. He said there were over 400 cells ready for use, yet only forty-three convicts were being kept there, and inquired what was the use of penitentiaries if the convicts were still to be worked on railroads. There seemed to be such a difference of opinion about what was needed that the House decided to go see for itself, and the resolution was adopted. The House will therefore adjourn Wednesday, February 5th, till the following Monday, and many of the members, if not most of them, will go to Eddyville to inform themselves."

An Independent Voter's Views.

Editor Bulletin—What we want in the Constitutional convention is a man of brains, energy and ambition, one who has studied history as a science and knows what effect the laws formulated in the past have had upon the interests of, and the people, for whom they were formulated. We want a man who is far-sighted enough to see what effect the laws formulated now will have in the future, one who is honest enough to refuse to be the tool of a ring and quick-witted enough to know when an effort is being made to so use him—who is ambitious enough to be proud of his name and wishes to see it handed down to the generation for which he is to legislate as that of a man of diplomacy and statesman-like ability. And that man's name is Thomas E. Pickett, of Maysville, Mason County, Ky.

The New York Star says a dividend on Chesapeake and Ohio first preferred stock is now thought probable within a few months.

The earnings of the Chesapeake and Ohio road for the third week of January show an increase of $20,466.53 over those for the corresponding week of last year. The figures are: 1890, $122,339.37; 1889, $101,842.84. Increase, $20,496.53.

The Kentucky Central people returned to the old depot, corner Third and Bridge streets, this morning. The office and waiting room are being painted and fitted

At the urgent request of his friends and patrons, Ballenger, the jeweler, has postponed the raffia of that $400 diamond until March 8th, when it will positively take place. In the meantime he will give a ticket with every dollar paid on account and on every dollar's worth of goods bought.

The Manchester Signal says a Cincinnati drummer attempted to catch on to the F. F. V. as it slowed up to go over the fill opposite that place, one day last week, and was tossed up, and thrown down, his knee-cap almost knocked off and his hands and arms terribly lacerated by coming in contact with the cinders. He will not soon again attempt to board a train until it stops.

The Chicago Daily Inter Ocean of Saturday, January 18th, prints a column description of a new fourteen-story hotel to be built there. It is intended to make it the finest hotel in the world, the building alone to cost over $1,000,000. A lease has been secured on some ground in the city for 99 years at $50,000 per year. The negotiations have been conducted entirely by Gwynne Dennis, formerly of Aberdeen, but now one of the most prominent bankers and brokers in the Windy City.

Application for stock may be made to any of the officers of the association.

GEORGE ORT, SR.

A Former Citizen of Maysville Passes Away at His Home in Ohio.

Mr. George Ort, Sr., mention of whose critical illness was made a few days ago, died Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at his home near New Harmony, Ohio.

The deceased was a well known citizen of Maysville for a long time. He moved here about the year 1866 and entered business as a dealer in furniture. He enjoyed a large trade, but finally retired and moved to Ohio.

Mr. Ort was in the sixty-fifth year of his age. He left a large family. Among his surviving children are Mr. Henry Ort, Mr. George Ort, furniture dealers, and Mr. Douglas P. Ort, of the revenue service, all of this city. The other surviving children are: Mrs. Rev. H. W. Bailey, of Anniston, Ala.; Mrs. Richard Stevens, of Covington, Mrs. C. H. McNutt, of Williamsburg, O.; Mr. William Ort, of Georgetown, O.; Mr. Charles Ort, of Cincinnati and Misses Katie and Ida Ort, of New Harmony.

The remains were brought here last night and the funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the M. E. Church, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. Thomas Hanford will conduct the services.

River Items.

The Hudson and Telegraph are due up to-night at 12 o'clock.

The Chancellor and Scotia are the Sunday packets for Cincinnati.

The Batchelor passes down this evening and returns to Pittsburgh to-morrow night.

Captain Bob Agnew, formerly connected with the Handy No. 2 in the Portsmouth and Maysville trade, has, with his partner, Captain M. S. Hissem, disposed of his interest in the Upper Cumberland river trade. They have bought another boat and will run her from Bowling Green to Rochester on the Upper Green river.

Captain Wm. Riggs informs us that the statement taken from one of our exchanges concerning the first tow boat on the Ohio is incorrect. He says the first coal was towed by the side-wheel tow boat Condor, with Captain Martin in command, between 1835 and 1840. The engines were afterward taken out and put in a mill at Pomeroy.—Daily Iron-tonian.

The W. N. Chancellor, recently purchased by the Big Sandy Packet Company, received a complete new outfit for her state-rooms Thursday. The comforts of the traveling public on the river are being cared for in the best possible manner by the packet companies. There is every evidence of progression and liberality on the part of the companies, which is bound to redound to their benefit.—Enquirer.

For the Farmer.

Horse and jack cards neatly executed at the BULLETIN job office.

The Owen News says: "A gentleman called at our office Monday, said that he would not raise as much tobacco this year as usual, but would put a part of the tobacco ground in sorghum. Last year he raised a quarter of an acre of cane and made $50 worth of molasses, had a good quantity of fodder from the blades and plenty of chicken feed from the seeds. He estimates sorghum at about $250 per acre.

Two of the finest crops of tobacco of which we heard were raised on the farm of W. S. Franklin. Millard Lowry raised a crop of two and one-half acres which made an average of 2,454 pounds to the acre, and which was bought by Skinner & Christy at 10 1/2 cents per pound. The other, a crop of four acres, was raised by Geo. Green and made an average of 1,980 pounds and was bought by the same firm at 9 1/2 cents.—Winchester Democrat.

A Chicago paper says: "Present prices for cattle are not greatly different from those prevailing twelve months ago. There is this difference, however, that then, as events proved, the tendency of the market was downward, while the present outlook is most emphatically encouraging—possibly not for an immediate advance, but certainly for much better prices later in the season. Hogs are from $1.50 to $1.60 per hundred pounds cheaper than at this time last year, when $5.10 and $5.25 was the range of prices. This means a difference of something like $4 per head on the average hog—a very considerable item to the producers. Prices for sheep are 'way up,' as compared with those ruling at the beginning of 1889. The best muttons were then selling around $4.70 to $4.80 as against $5.40 and $5.50 to-day. The future of the sheep market looks encouraging."

Sudden Death.

During the excitement caused by the accident at the cotton mills yesterday morning, John Frost was stricken with apoplexy and died in about twenty minutes. He was about fifty years old and had worked in the mills thirty years. His brother James dropped dead in the mills about fifteen years ago.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE LEATHER!

The author of this proverb is unknown. In a spelling-book much used in our grandmothers' days will be found the following lines, which perhaps gave the origin of it:

A town feared a siege and held consultation,
Which was the best means of fortification;
A grave, skillful mason said, in his opinion,
Nothing like stone would secure the dominion;
If the honest old currier was alive to-day he would be surprised at the many kinds of leather made—made solely for cheapness, without reference to service or durability—a snare and a disappointment to the wearer. His advice would be to buy that which is ABSOLUTELY RELIABLE.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Notes and Comments by County Superintendent Galbraith for Year 1889-90.

NO. 9—FRANKLIN.

Pupils on roll, 38; present, 24. The trustees are Jos. A. Scott, John Thompson and Leander Thompson.

The school is taught by E. A. Scott, and was found in good working condition. Mr. Scott is teaching his first session, and succeeding well in his laudable ambition of making it a good one.

The discipline of the school was first-class. Mr. Scott has introduced the permanent register and uses the written work, but not as satisfactorily as could be desired, on account of the difficulty of getting suitable paper in the hands of the pupils. This illustrates how short-sighted of their children's interest parents may be.

NO. 8—HEBRON.

Pupils on roll, 28; present, 15. The trustees are John Wallingford, Theoderic Owens and Powell B. Owens.

I found this school doing good work, in charge of Miss Lenora McDaniel, a young teacher of great promise. She spares no pains in her effort to make her school a success. She uses the permanent register and written work, with which she is making rapid advancement on the part of her pupils. The discipline and working order of the school was first-class.

NO. 57—GAULT'S.

Pupils on roll 30, present 18. The trustees are Thomas Allison and R. P. Ganit.

This school is taught by Miss Mattie Glascock, a teacher well equipped for the duties of the school, having prepared herself by a course of training in the National Normal School.

Her school was found in good working order. She uses the permanent register, monthly reports and written work, and her pupils acquitted themselves well in all the classes examined.

NO. 33—PLEASANT RIDGE.

Pupils on roll 43, present 27. The trustees are J. J. Kennard, John E. Wells and Joseph Keith.

The school is taught by Miss Kate Mayhugh, a well trained teacher who is doing excellent work. She is using the written work and advancing her pupils satisfactorily. Her grammar classes deserve special mention, but I was most pleased with the general instruction of the primary pupils. As an exercise in the nature of recreation to them, they had learned the names and dates of all of the Presidents of the United States, besides naming other useful facts, and they took the greatest pleasure in giving out their knowledge.

Dun's Review of Trade

Condition of Business During the Past Week.

A SLIGHT BANK DISTURBANCE.

Public Confidence Somewhat Shaken Over the Financial Future—Slow Collections at Various Interior Points. Business Failures for the Past Seven Days.

New York, Feb. 1.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says: The closing of one considerable bank and two smaller ones, in consequence of a bold conspiracy to abstract their assets, does not appear to threaten any financial disturbance. But it tends to impair public confidence, and coming after several recent defalcations, and performances of questionable propriety in the Reading and other corporations, it weakens faith in the soundness of corporate management.

In other respects the news is less favorable this week. The financial pressures at London does not abate, and there are reports that heavy withdrawals of gold for South America or for France will soon be necessary. Foreign exchange here grows stronger, having risen from $4.86 3/4 to $4.87 5/8. Sales of bonds have been small, and the treasury has taken in nearly $1,200,000 more cash than it has paid out.

Tardiness of collections at various interior points causes more complaint, and the unseasonably mild weather once more depresses many lines of trade. The exports in January from New York have been smaller than last years by 81-2 per cent. The prospect of the decrease in produce exports, which is to be expected at this season, renders exports of gold at no distant day a possibility. The later indications of business activity are not quite so satisfactory. The bank clearings continue to show an increase over last year of nearly 8 per cent., but these represent largely settlements on past transactions. The accounts from other cities show the effect of unseasonable weather.

From the reports telegraphed it may be inferred that trade since the New year began has not answered expectations, and there are some signs that the weather is not solely to blame. In the iron business, the mills are fully employed at Cleveland, but sellers make better offers at Pittsburgh, and some reductions occur, and at Philadelphia large lots, which had been hypothesized, have been sold at some concessions, frightening timid buyers. The indications are that excess of production begins to be felt.

In the dry goods trade the signs noted at Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago are seen here and at other points. Cotton goods are active and fairly maintained, and worsteds and light woolsens in good demand, but sales of heavy goods are not large nor improving in prices. The coal trade also continues much depressed, as to anthracite, though bituminous is active at fair prices. The unsurpassed activity in building has made materials strong and active, and drugs are still in fair demand, but the general average of prices is again a shade lower, and has declined more than 1 per cent. in the month of January.

It is generally realized that continued monetary pressure abroad may send more American securities hither, and if gold exports begin, a sustained advance in stocks would probably be deferred.

Business failures during the last seven days, for the United States 246, for Canada 45, total 291, against a total of 333 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 291 in the United States, and 41 in Canada.

A WIFE'S HONOR ATTACKED,

And the Supposed Author of It Is Killed by the Woman's Husband.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—Samuel W. Garness, a money broker of this city, died at the city hospital late last night from the effects of bullet wounds inflicted by D. R. Arnold, a wealthy resident of Colusa county. The shooting is supposed to have had its origin in some anonymous circulars distributed in Colusa over a year ago, charging Mrs. Arnold with having been guilty of improper conduct.

Arnold had endeavored to ascertain the author of these circulars, and his suspicion rested on Garness. The men had quarreled over the affair several times before, and yesterday afternoon they entered a saloon on Market street together and went into a private room. A few minutes later several shots were heard, and when the parties entered the room they found Arnold had shot Garness with a revolver, three of the shots taking effect, and causing his death last night. Arnold was arrested and is still in custody. He refuses to make any statement in regard to the affair.

BLAINE'S ELDEST DAUGHTER,

Mrs. Coppinger, Seriously Ill at Her Father's Residence.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Coppinger, wife of Lieut. Col. Coppinger, U. S. A., and eldest daughter of Secretary Blaine, is critically ill with inflammation of the brain, at her father's residence in this city. Mrs. Coppinger has been sick for some time, but late Thursday afternoon she grew rapidly worse, and Friday morning her condition was regarded as so serious that a consultation of physicians was had, and she was pronounced critically ill. President Harrison called at 11 o'clock Friday to extend his sympathy. Lieut. Col. Coppinger, who is now on a tour of inspection in the west, has been summoned by telegraph.

A SOLDIER SUICIDES.

He Grows Despondent and Shoots Himself Through the Heart.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 1.—At 10:15 Thursday night recruit Thomas Mulrooney, of the depot detachment, deliberately committed suicide at the barracks by shooting himself through the heart. He had been at the garrison only about three months, was employed as a clerk at headquarters, where his genial and gentlemanly manners caused him to be respected by his associates.

The cause of his taking his own life is ascribed by his comrades to have been a morbid feeling that he had made a mistake in enlisting in the United States army, and had thereby become dissatisfied with his surroundings. He enlisted at Milwaukee at the same time that Edward J. Drexel, the nephew of the Philadelphia banker, enlisted, but he chose the infantry, whereas Drexel joined the cavalry. Mulrooney was also known to Drexel before they enlisted, and the name which Mulrooney took upon enlisting is known to have been incorrect, as he soon got tired of being called Mulrooney and asked his comrades to call him "Mull." His real name is believed to be Hanna, and is father is said to be a large dry goods merchant of Chicago.

The act of suicide on the part of the deceased must have been a very deliberate one, as he unbuttoned his coat and vest, and while feeling for his heart with the forefinger of his left hand, he placed the revolver close to his breast with his right hand and fired, the ball passing through his heart and shattering the left forefinger.

The following letter found on the deceased shows clearly the cause of his rash act, and also proves that Edward J. Drexel knows all about the unfortunate man.

CAMP SHERIDAN, WY. T., Jan. 2, 1890.
DEAR MULROONEY—I am sorry you are not happy, but the army, as you know, is not a soft job. I am charmingly situated and have very nice quarters. I am teaching the commanding officer's sons and the post school. The press criticised my action of enlisting, and I suppose you have read some of them. I hope you will get along well and regain your courage. I will try and help you out when my banker remits again.
Yours truly, EDWARD J. DREXEL.

THEY MIGHT HAVE FOUGHT,

If Their Friends Had Not Hired the Police to Interfere.

St. Louis, Feb. 1.—Two callow St. Louis dukes of good family, Bernie C. Edmunds and Louis Hough, became involved in a quarrel over a young woman, and attempted to settle the matter by a duel. Mr. Edmunds is a brother of H. L. Edmunds, a prominent attorney, and Mr. Hough is a son of Judge Hough, recently of the supreme bench. Mr. Edmunds had repeated a story that Mr. Hough was engaged to the young woman.

Mr. Hough and the young woman got mad. Mr. Hough wanted an apology, but Mr. Edmunds said "he would see him further." Mr. Hough challenged him to a vulgar scrap with bare knuckles, but Edmunds said "No; pistols were his holiday." Each chose a second, Mr. Hough choosing Jack Bogher, and Mr. Edmunds Douglas Kingsland. They were to meet in a gory struggle at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Normandy. Mr. Hough's father and Mr. Edmunds' brother engaged some police officers and took possession of the grounds, and the duelists decamped, but threatened to settle yet.

Murderer Escapes from Jail.

GREENSBORO, N. C., Feb. 1.—Lige Moore (colored), who was to have been hanged here next Friday for the murder of Laura Hatt, escaped from jail yesterday. He procured an iron bar, with which he opened his cell, and then fastened in the jailer, who was at work on the gallows on the third floor. The jailer raised an alarm, but did not attract attention until Moore had made good his escape.

Toward noon there was some pressure to sell the grangers and New England and prices reacted sharply. Rock Island declined 1 1/4 per cent. to 95.

He could have a nice platform trimmed with red, they said, all to him elf. The Anarchist editor glared at the museum men and opened the vials of his wrath. The vials were large ones, and the museum men thought they had been struck by a blizzard. He wound up by telling them that he would throw them down stairs if they didn't hustle out of his office.
